

Dartmoor National Park £ for the Park

What is £ for the Park?

The “£ for the Park” concept was introduced by Dartmoor National Park in 2011. The initiative is a voluntary donation scheme whereby participants taking part in all organised events are invited to make a donation in addition to their registration fee, thus enabling them to “put something back” into the conservation and/or heritage of Dartmoor.

The Ten Tors event and its organisers are fully signed up to the £ for the Park initiative and last year you contributed £1355 with a running total so far of £2750.

Since 2011 the initiative has received a total of £15,790 which has been spent on a wide range of projects.

How will £ for the Park be used?

All Ten Tors £ for the Park donations received will be ring-fenced and used for practical access repairs and improvements, as well as to support conservation projects. If you have any suggestions for suitable projects, we are happy to hear from you.
